The Importance of Co-Parenting Effectively

One of the curricula offered in our Earn While You Learn parenting program is called, "One Heart Two Homes." This one-of-a-kind co-parenting curriculum is designed to give hope for the single parent, divorced parent and stepparent in their parenting journey. Because emotional hurt is experienced in broken relationships, it is not uncommon to hear parents say they didn't realize how much separation, divorce or conflict negatively impacts the children, not only at home but also in their child's future relationships.

Through a variety of lessons, clients learn why co-parenting well is important. Valuable principles are taught to co-parent effectively, amicably, and positively for the sake of the children. Some of these lessons include: Creating Stability, Handling the Handoff, Emotional Needs, Parental Adjustment & Inter-parental Conflict, Navigating through Holidays & Special Occasions and more...

Because of your ongoing prayers and support, you enable us to offer hope and help in building stronger families through this program. Thank you!

Behold, children are a gift of the LORD, the fruit of the womb is a reward. Ps. 127:3

One heart at a time...one life at a time.
